CREAM OF NEWS.

As to Satouana.

The vote in Saturday's election will be counted to-day and the result declared. Tavern licenses can then be issued only after the fact has been ascertained ten days, but saloons in the city may re-open as soon as the Council fixes the rate for license, which will be done this evening. It is probable that the price of city license will be put at about $600, but some of the Board will doubtless favor as high as $1,000. It was formerly $250. Government and county licenses are $150, as before the prohibition law was passed. There will be about a dozen saloons opened up at once in this city, if the license is as low as $500. It is understood that several of the blind tigers will move their bars into the front rooms.

"Uncle Rock's" Last Hope Gone.

The Court of Appeals affirmed the decision of the lower court in the M. H. Ratford case last Thursday. It will be remembered that Ratford was after several trials sentenced to 21 years in the penitentiary, for killing a man named Johnson in this county several years ago. The case was tried in Trigg on a charge of venue, and appealed from that county. Ratford, who is 78 years old, is now in jail at Cadiz. This decision will send him to the penitentiary in about 30 days, as the papers will not be forwarded before that time.

An Expensive Calf.

Jim Johnson sued Matt Cayce, Saturday, before Ex. Judge at Beverly, for the possession of a calf sold to both parties at Owsley's sale, though some mistake. The court gave the calf to Johnson, who first got possession of it. Cayce thought the calf, as he thought, with its mother and Johnson claims to have bought the same calf with a lot of yearlings. The value of the calf was $1250 and the costs of the suit amounted to $180, which amount Cayce will probably attempt to recover by an appeal. The case created quite a sensation at Beverly.

Too Many Birds.

The English sparrow is a pest that some means must be devised to rid ourselves of. They latest the city in countless numbers and are already building their nests about the eaves and preparing for another crop. It is already almost impossible to raise berries or small fruits on their account and they are multiplying every year. They have become a nuisance that must command our serious consideration in the very near future.

The Warren County Election.

Warren county voted on a proposition to subscribe $250,000 to a new road to Henderson Saturday and the proposition was carried by about 1,000 majority. The contest was a hot and exciting one, but following Green's big majority of 1,353 did the work. Another proposition of $200,000 will be voted on Mar. 16th.

The gentleman composing this firm, are T. R. Hancock, formerly of this city, C. R. Hallum, J. T. Edwards and W. I. Fraser. All of these gentlemen are thorough tobacco men, knowing just how and when to handle the farmer's tobacco to secure its full value. Mr. Hancock is salesman and Mr. W. I. Elly the book-keeper. Farmers will find it to their interest to remember the Gracely when consigning their crop this season as they can rest assured that Tom Hancock will pull them out ahead in price if it can be done.

LIQUOR LICKS.

THE WETS SWEEP THE COUNTY FROM END TO END.

HOPKINSVILLE ALONE ROLLS UP A MAJORITY OF 644.

THE MAJORITY 1000 IN THE COUNTY.

Saturday opened with a cold drizzling rain, but by noon the rain ceased and hailing the mud there were no serious drawbacks to the election.

The voting was started with a rush by the wets early in the morning, showing that they were closely organized. The majority steadily increased at both city polls all day and No. 1 fairly piled up. At noon the majority in town was 448, in a total poll of 1,075. The Drys hoped that the worst was over and that they could begin to reduce after dinner, but it grew and grew and was increased about 300 before the election was over. By two o'clock the Drys gave up the fight and it became only a question of majority.

The upper poll was manned by Walter Kelly and G. W. West, judges; A. D. Hickey, clerk; Geo. J. Dalton, sheriff; A. H. Anderson challenger for the Wets and Geo. Bradley and Irvin Lander, col., challengers for the Drys.

The lower one by J. M. Hilkens and W. S. Davison, judges; L. H. Petree, clerk; W. H. Moore, sheriff; A. C. Brent, col., challenger for the Wets and Ben Lloyd, col., challenger for the Drys.

Committees of ladies from the W. C. T. U. were seated in the rooms where the polls were located and lunch stands were situated in rooms adjoining, where a free lunch was served to voters of the Dry ticket. The presence of ladies at the polls was objected to by the Wets, but the officers decided that the same privilege would be extended to both sides and they were allowed to remain. The Wets declined to avail themselves of the privilege. The Drys did not appear to have an organization and but little work was done by them at the polls. On the other hand an army of workers were stirring themselves to corral the voters for the Wet side and "headquarters" were located a few yards from each of the polls.

Among the workers were the prospective saloonists, the representatives of whiskey interests, the blind tiger men, the high license men, the drinking men, the men who think prohibition has hurt business, those who were opposed to blind tigers, the colored men who considered their "liberty" at stake and those who had money bet on the Wets. All were working in unison to find the doubtful votes, while the purchasable element was by no means neglected.

The Wet men show that they were organized for business and their voters were marched up in squads of not only five but twenty-five or more. One squad of 35 was composed entirely of young white voters, some of whom were casting their maiden votes.

There were no disturbances of any kind in the city, not even an angry discussion, and the election was the fairest and best managed the city has ever seen. The chief of police detailed Geo. Walker, Geo. Lander, Geo. Merritt and Sol Fritz as extra policemen, and the polls were kept clear of crowds all day.

The following are the figures as near as could be obtained yesterday:

Wet majority with two more wet precincts to hear from 969.

ELECTION NOTES.

Crofton added 11 votes to her former Dry majority.

Otho Anderson represented the Wets at Lafayette.

Eq. Tom Barker made good his pledge to the Drys in regard to his precinct.

Tom Wootton went to Bennettsburg to help out the wets.

G. M. Bell was at Garrettsburg to encourage the damp side.

The Wets had workers at nearly all of the country precincts.

K. McLean went to Pembroke to look after the Wet interests.

There were few disturbances in the county anywhere. Crofton seems to have been the only place where there was a fight. W. H. Long hit H. C. McCord on the head with a stick, making an ugly gash.

Ladies Have Tried It.

A number of my lady customers have tried Mother's Friend and would not be without for many times its cost. They recommend it to all expecting to become mothers.

The Last Speeches.

The closing speeches of the campaign were made at the court house Friday. Judge Quarles spoke for the Wet side in the afternoon to a full house. He said he would establish three propositions: That the use of intoxicating liquors was right and recommended by the Bible. That prohibition was a failure. That all great men used liquor. He quoted Deut. 4th chapter and 26th verse; Proverbs 31st chapter, 6th and 7th verses; Luke 7th chapter and 33rd verse, and Timothy 5th chapter to sustain his first proposition. He argued that Christ himself drank wine and even made 90 gallons upon one occasion at a wedding feast. That God made spirituous liquors for man's use, and that the prohibition idea was a northern notion not in keeping with southern ideas. He said all of the great men of the past and of the present used liquor. Washington and Jackson each had a distillery and made and used it. All the Presidents except Hayes drank and he had himself tipped glasses with Senator Clark and other prominent men. He then read statistics to show that prohibition was a failure and closed with an appeal to the colored voters not to vote away their freedom, or sell their votes to the temperance ladies for a cup of coffee and a fritter, but to sell them higher if they sold them at all.

He spoke for about two hours and a good part of his speech was ridiculed of Sam Small, whom he called an "importation from Georgia."

SMALL AT NIGHT.

Mr. Small closed his week's campaign at night to a still larger audience and his speech was his best effort. He had been posted in regard to Judge Quarles' speech and he handled him in the severest terms.

He accused him of falsifying Scripture, blaspheming Christ and ridiculing the Christian religion. Christ made wine out of water and if he would make his out of the same material no harm would be done.

Wine had been consecrated by Christ for sacramental purposes and should be used for no other purpose. He replied to every part of Judge Quarles' address to the great satisfaction of his adherents and closed with an eloquent peroration that fairly electrified the large audience. Nothing like his eloquence had ever been heard in the court house before, and even those who disagreed with him admitted that Sam Small fairly surpassed himself. He is by long odds the finest orator who has ever canvassed Christian County for any cause.

Coffee Medical Institute.

LOUISVILLE Feb. 11, 1889

We doubt if there be a city in the country that affords superior advantages to that of Louisville for medical treatment, for you here find some of the most eminent surgeons and specialists known to the profession. The time was when the "doctor" made a specialty of everything in the form of disease or health, and he knew but little of either, still he was sanguine his saddle bags contained healing for nations; but time has wrought many changes, and many of us have learned that we do not know every thing, that there is a specialty for nearly all. In this connection we take pleasure in calling the attention of the public to the Coffee Medical Institute at 520 Fifth street, of which Dr. Coffee & Forshee are proprietors. These gentlemen make a specialty of curing rupture without a knife or truss, and in a short space of time at the same time painless, and there is no charge until cure is effected. This branch is the specialty of Dr. Forshee who also treats disease of women and children most successfully. Dr. Coffee treats the eye, ear, throat and lungs and chronic nasal and post nasal catarrh, and his long experience and careful study have made him most successful. Again at this college deformity is treated in a manner second to no institution of the kind in the country, many cures effected being most remarkable. This institute is most pleasantly located and fitted throughout in as pleasant a manner as possible where patients can be assured of all the comforts of home with nursing not to be surpassed. It is here one can secure that kind care and attention which has won for the doctors a most enviable reputation, and for the institute a name placing it amid the leading medical resorts of the country, having the confidence of patients for and near and the good will of all and we deem it our duty to congratulate the doctors on their success, and the citizens of Louisville on having in their very midst so creditable an institution.—Illustrated Chicago Century.

Dr. Forshee will be at the Phoenix Hotel, Saturday, March 10th, one day only.

DEATHS.

Geo. Hillman, a brother of the late David Hillman, of Trigg county, died in Humphreys county, Tenn., on Feb. 19th, aged 75 years.

Miss Iva Baker, daughter of Blake Baker, Esq., died at her father's home near Hook Castle, Trigg county, on Feb. 22nd, aged 22 years.

Eight-year old son of Mr. Fletch died Saturday, three miles south of the city.

Jas. B. Cayce, son of Jas. M. Cayce, Esq., died on the 3rd inst., at the residence of his father, south of town. He was in the 25th year of his age and died from lung trouble. He had been a cripple all his life and a invalid for years, though he only took to his bed about six weeks ago. He was a consistent member of the Christian church and was a young man of many noble traits. His funeral took place at his father's Sunday and the remains were interred in the family burying ground near by.
